CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

It is my great pleasure to congratulate you on the successful culmination of your course of study with Murdoch University.

Your degree equips you with the skills you need for an exciting career in your chosen field, along with the capacity for creativity, curiosity and critical thinking that are the foundation stones of a rich, rewarding life.

I know from personal experience the power of a Murdoch education. Many years ago, I was able to enrol by correspondence as a mature-aged student, the mother of three young children. After achieving my degree, I pursued a varied and exciting career in public life – one that led to my eventual appointment as Chancellor of Murdoch University!

I am therefore supremely confident that the knowledge and values you have learned as part of your Murdoch experience will give you the tools to understand our world and bring about change for the better.

The privilege of a university education should compel you to not only seek out a wonderful career, but to use your skills to give back to society, to make your mark, to truly make the world a better place.

As a valued Murdoch alumni, I also hope that your graduation will not be the end of your Murdoch experience – and that you remain connected to your alma mater through the many professional and personal rewards offered by our Office of Alumni and Philanthropy. Graduates of Murdoch University, I congratulate you on your accomplishments and wish you continued success as you embark on the next exciting stage of your life's journey.

Yours sincerely,

Gail McGowan PSM
Chancellor

CHARGE TO GRADUATES

Graduates, it is my great honour to welcome you to the fellowship of educated people.

The award of a university degree carries many privileges but like all privileges it also carries responsibilities. As graduates of Murdoch University, I urge you to use what you have learnt for your own betterment and for the benefit of the community.

I encourage you to use the skills and knowledge you have acquired with rigour and integrity and to commit yourselves to a program of life-long learning and discovery. I invite you to remember the lessons Murdoch has taught you about the worth of others, particularly those who have not had the opportunities that you have had.

At all times you should strive to set high goals and to continue the hard work that has brought you so far.

And finally, in all you do, I charge you to be deserving of the good name of Murdoch University.

Carbon Management Accounting Adoption: Determinants and Its Impact on Corporate Performance

Grounded in contingency theory, this study explores the adoption of Carbon Management Accounting (CMA) within a developing country context. It examines key determinants influencing CMA adoption and analyses its impact on the environmental and financial performance of manufacturing companies in Indonesia. The findings offer practical insights for managers and practitioners in streamlining contingency aspects that contribute to an effective CMA, in enhancing climate change responsiveness while delivering economic value.

Founder Chief Executive Officer, and corporate decisions: Evidence from Australia

This research examines how Founder CEOs influence financial decisions in Australian listed companies. Using data from 2012 to 2021, it finds that founder-led firms use less debt, show lower executive opportunism, and have more stable earnings. These effects are stronger when founders have higher ownership and when institutional investors monitor effectively. The study highlights that founder leadership, supported by good governance, promotes discipline and long-term value creation.

Inequities in the utilization of maternal healthcare services in low- and middle-income countries: comparative insights from Bangladesh and Pakistan

My PhD research examined inequities in maternal healthcare in Bangladesh and Pakistan, focusing on service use, family planning, and costs. Analysis of national survey data showed that wealth, education, and rural residence strongly shaped utilization to antenatal and postnatal care. The poorest women faced the heaviest out-of-pocket costs, often resulting in catastrophic health spending. These findings highlight the urgent need for targeted policies to strengthen equity in maternal and reproductive healthcare services.
